At a convention called to meet in this city Saturday, Mr. John M. Dickey received the Democratic nomination for Coroner of Montgomery county, and Messrs. Henry Jones and Robert Crooks nominations for Magistrates, and Mr. Henry L. Jones for Constable of the Mt. Sterling precinct.

Maj. A. T. Wood, late Republican candidate for Governor, wound up his canvass at Munsfordville, on Saturday afternoon and came home on Sunday. Maj. Mr. J. D. Wilson and family request us to thank their many friends for the sympathy and attention shown to them in the hours of sorrow through which they have of late been passing. Neither the attention to the living or the dead is forgotten or unappreciated by them.

Two young men by the names of Morton and Hughes got into a difficulty at Hedges Station, one evening last week, in which the latter was badly beaten over the head by Morton with a shot-gun. Whilst Hughes' injuries are serious they are by no means dangerous, we hear. Morton is the same man who had a difficulty last fall with a conductor on an N. & M. V. train.

Judge John E. Cooper left on the 11 o'clock train Friday, for Jackson, to fill an appointment to address the Democratic voters of Bradshott in the interest of Jack Arnett, who was candidate for the Legislature. Judge Cooper is always found at his post when the party needs his services and among the people of Eastern Kentucky no man has a greater degree of confidence. He returned yesterday in time to vote.

A Washington special of July 30th to the Louisville Times says: A large party of Kentuckians, who have been visiting Old Point Comfort, arrived there this morning and registered at the St. James. Among them are W. P. Strader, W. F. Delong, Miss Clara White and Mrs. E. Cox, of Lexington; T. J. Bigstaff, Miss Fenton Bigstaff and Miss Elizabeth Bigstaff, of Mt. Sterling; W. G. Simpson and wife, Miss Ella Thompson and Miss Bettie Davis, of Georgetown; Mrs. Ella Payne, of Warsaw.

One S. H. Snyder, a Kansas Third Partyite, and an ex-Republican, who has been making his Third Party speeches in the interest of the Republicans, had the misfortune to run afoul of a couple of Democrats who gave him a dose that he will long remember. Judge Cooper struck him at West Liberty Wednesday and used him up. On Thursday he ran across of H. B. Kinsolving, of this city, at Frenchburg, who also wiped the earth up with him.

Mrs. Martha J. Bradshaw, wife of Capt. Bradshaw, of Paris, Ky., committed suicide last Wednesday by drowning in Stoner creek. From the note she left, family troubles were the cause of the sad act. Capt. Bradshaw was raised in this county, and has a great many warm friends here. He raised a company and served 4 years in the Confederate army, and was mustered out in this city at the close of the war, and then moved to Paris, where he has since lived. His friends here are slow to believe that the cause of the rash act of his wife could be attributed to his bad treatment or neglect of his wife.

Heard of such prices on goods as are given by Thos. Whit, the jeweler. I will guarantee that I can discount prices 10 to 20 per cent. offered by any house in the city. Is this worth saying when you get the same quality of goods at such a discount? For the next thirty days I will sell watches, clocks, jewelry, and optical goods at very close prices. I have a nice line of gold filled watches, and I keep all the leading American and foreign makes of watches, from ordinary to the best quality, and I guarantee all one year, to be good time keepers.

T. M. Morrow, of this city, has invented one of the most complete blotter tablets we have ever seen, and has applied for a patent. It consists of a stationary bank, in which is a wire spring to receive a package of letter or note heads, and the front is a blotter fastened with spring grippers, into which may be inserted a fresh blotter whenever necessity demands it, thus keeping the paper neat and clean. It cannot but prove a veritable boon to the business man. If he once takes hold of it, he will not do without it. We congratulate Mr. Morrow upon his invention, and predict that it will be a profitable one to him.

One James Crockett, who claims to be a hatter from Covington, and who evidently belongs to the grand army of tramps, stole a watch on Thursday from S. S. Clark, of Hazel Green, who was in the city temporarily. Mr. Clark, discovering his loss, reported the fact to officers Taul and Masterson, who soon discovered that Crockett had pawned such an article to John W. Jones, the jeweler, and lost no time in arresting the traveling gentleman. He waived an examining trial, and was held in $55 bond to await the action of the grand jury. Failing to furnish bail, he was committed to the tender care of Jailor Tipton.

Miss Annie Parsons, aged 27 years, daughter of our fellow-townsmen, T. W. Parsons, died very suddenly at the home of her father on Friday afternoon. She had been a sufferer for several years, and had lately developed acute pulmonary troubles. She was alone in the house, when in a fit of coughing a hemorrhage came on. She called to a neighbor, who came at once and did what was possible for her, but before the arrival of a physician, indeed, in a few minutes, she was dead. Miss Parsons had been her father's housekeeper since she was twelve years old, being called to that responsibility this young by the death of her mother. Mr. Parsons has the sympathy of the entire community in his sorrow. Burial in Machpelah Cemetery last Saturday evening.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Mattie A. Wilson, wife of Mr. J. D. Wilson, of this city, died at her home on Monday night July 27th, 1891. Mrs. Wilson had spent the whole of her 27 years of married life in this city, and her kindly ministrations to the wants of the sick and the suffering had been widely felt in all those years. We meet no more lovely characters than was hers, anywhere along the journey of life. She was a true and devoted wife, who held in the highest degree the love and confidence of a devoted husband. So pleasant did she make home for him that he was away from home less than a dozen nights of all the years of their married life, save when ministering to the sick. As a mother she was almost an ideal one, and was repaid with a filial devotion beautiful to see. Truly, it is a pleasure now to her children to recall their tenderness toward the mother to whose wants they can now minister no more. She leaves behind the stricken husband, three sons, William, Charles and John, and two daughters, Misses Rebecca and Mattie, one boy, Jimmie, she had buried some years ago.

For several years she has been a sufferer from that dread scourge consumption, but all unconsciously she bore her sufferings, and under thoughtfulness of husband and children doing much to help her bear the burden patiently. Though the blow was long looked for, it fell none the less heavily on the afflicted family, and now that she has fallen asleep, their hearts are filled with bursting, that they must be separated from her.

For many years she was a faithful member of the Christian church of this city, and by her gentle, earnest life showed her faith in the Savior of mankind. Her funeral was preached by Elder B. W. Trimble and Dr. R. Lither, on Wednesday, after which all that was mortal of her was laid away in our beautiful cemetery.

A letter received the day she died by one of her sons, from one who loved her well, shows the appreciation in which she was held by those who knew her best.

SAINT JOE, TEX., July 26th, '91.

MY DEAR NEPHEW:

Your letter conveying the said intelligence of your dear mother's illness has just reached us, and words fail to express the deep sorrow it gives me to think that in all probability she is now with you no more. You wrote me in May that she had been very poorly, but had improved so much that I had fondly hoped that my sweet and gentle-spirited sister would soon be restored to her usual health, and I yet hope that it is possible for her to rally from the attack. I do feel so sorrowful as to feel that a great loss will be to lose the loved one who has been in her side so many long years, to cheer him when trials and disappointments have crossed his pathway, and what a comfort she would be if she could be spared in his declining years. As to her children, I feel like I can not express the sympathy I have for them, to lose the dearest friend they have on earth. I have so often told my younger children of their aunt Mat and her sweet, amiable disposition, and how I always loved her as an own sister, as they were too young when we left Kentucky to remember her. One by one our loved ones in Kentucky are passing away, and as I am so far away I cannot be with any of them in their last days on earth, in my far away Southern home I can only think of them as when I bid them a long farewell, all in the enjoyment of health and happiness. But oh! how many of them since then have passed over the dark river of death, and all that I have to console me is that I hope one day to meet them when the sorrows and separations of this life will have ended.

We have had good health this summer. I am feeling better now than I have for a long time. The family join me in much love and sympathy to you all in your deep sorrow. Hoping that you will write often and keep me apprised of your mother's condition, I remain your affectionate

AUNT LOU.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Sharpshooters Items.

Mrs. Mary Hord Elgin is quite ill with typhoid fever.

Allie Ratliff and wife were the guests of relatives near Winchester last week.

Thos. Judy and wife are spending a few weeks at Swango Springs in Wolfe county.

Mr. Fulton Greene and sister, Miss Ora, visited Miss Pearl Kincer last week.

Mrs. Eva Moore, of Kansas City, Mo., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Milton Ratliff, near town.

Miss Lena Arrasmith has returned from a pleasant visit to friends and relatives at Bethel.

Mrs. Miranda Peters and daughter, Miss Bessie, of Owingsville, visited Mrs. C. W. Peters last week.

Mrs. Fannie Goodpaster and daughter, Miss Ina, of Owingsville, visited relatives here last week.

Walter Allen and family and Miss Susan Craycraft spent several days of the week at the Olympian springs.

Miss Clemmie May Jones, of Mt. Sterling, is spending a few days with Miss Mary E. Clark, on Flat Creek.

Our Democratic friend, Judge J. M. Alexander, has returned from St. Louis, where he has been on a visit of several weeks to his son, Alban Alexander.

Miss Nancy Kimer entertained a number of friends at her home, "Vine Cottage," on last Saturday evening, in honor of her guests, Misses Anna Smoot, of Bethel, and Mattie Emmons, of Reynoldsville.

The Sharpshooter Fair commences next Tuesday and will continue four days, the Bluegrass Circuit advertisement to the contrary notwithstanding. Everything is getting in readiness, and the Association expects to have one of the best fairs of its history.

Mr. Walter Sharp who has been very sick for several weeks with typhoid fever, was dangerously low during several days of last week, and the gravest doubts were entertained as to her ultimate recovery. We are happy to state that she is much better at this writing, and is slowly improving.

A very sad and most deplorable suicide occurred a few miles from this place last Thursday. Mr. Will Taylor, a young and well-liked farmer, took a large dose of Paris green and died in great agony. The supposable cause of the suicide being an inability to pay some debts which were due. His remains were interred at Springfield church on Sunday.

Sharpshooter now has two bar-rooms, and the boys say they are a great improvement over the drug stores. They can now take their "smiles" without the circumlocutory process of affecting all the ills that flesh is heir to, consulting a physician, and getting a prescription. They can just walk in, plunk down their dimes and the barkeeper does the rest.

Daniel H. Jones, of Mt. Sterling, has obtained a judgment and an order of sale in the Bath Circuit Court against J. T. Jones, J. Clyde Nelson and the heirs of Virginia Jones, deceased, and their real estate, consisting of a farm of about 180 acres, near town, advertised to be sold by the Master Commissioner at Owingsville, next Monday. Only enough of each defendant's share will be sold to produce the sum of $1,775.40 against each. Once before the plaintiff obtained a judgment in the Bath Circuit Court against these defendants for over $13,000, but the case was taken to the Court of Appeals, where the decision of the lower court was reversed. We have it on good authority that the case will again be carried to the higher court.

It was a Gorman convention which met at Baltimore yesterday, (July 30), to nominate a Democratic ticket for Maryland. The popular Senator's reelection was pledged in advance, and enthusiastic references were frequently made to him as a Presidential candidate. A tariff for revenue only platform, with a gold and silver parity plank, was adopted, and the following ticket was adopted: Governor, Farmer Frank Brown; Attorney-General, John P. Poe; Clerk Court of Appeals, J. Frankford; Controller, M. D. Smith. [Courier-Journal.]

HORSE AND TRACK.

Axtell has earned $118,000 in service fees the past two years.

Alcyon, 2:15 1/2, is expected to materially lower his record this year.

Margaret S. went a half the other day in 1:05. She seems to have all of her old time speed.

Fortune Palo Alto bred trotters have either entered the 2:30 list or reduced their records this season.

There are very few non-standard stallions siring trotters that do not carry a cross or two of A No. 1 trotting blood.

The pacer Manager (2:16 1/2), is faster than ever this spring; when Thompson lets him out he just sails along.

C. F. Clay promises to be a very successful sire of early speed, all of his youngsters can step well, do it nice and go fast.

Burmuda has a speedy colt, starting in the two-year-old stakes in Illinois. He is a black roan and is called Burmuda Boy.

The Acolyte family will be out in full force this season. Pepper will have quite a number of youngsters by him on the move.

C. W. Williams says that he expects to give Barnhardt as respectable a record as the one that is now tacked to Alerton his full brother.

Prodigal, the five-year-old brother of Patron, promises to be one of this year's champions. He won a remarkable race at Saginaw when he took a record of 2:17 1/2.

From the reports of Monbars it would seem that he has the two-year-old stakes at his mercy this year, but a "dark horse" may loom up before fall. He trotted a mile at Cleveland last week in 2:27 1/2.

At Cleveland on Tuesday Ed Goers sent Brown Hal a half-mile in 1:02 1/2. Goers says he is ready to wager a large sum of money that Brown Hal can pace half a mile over the Cleveland track in one minute.

The yearling Margrave by Baron Wilkes, dam by Happy Medium, entered in the $2000 stake, worked a mile below 2:40 the other day. This would hustle any yearling that we have seen being worked at the track. [American Trotter.]

Advertiser will come near being the premier of Palo Alto than any young horse now there. He is by Electioneer, out of Lulu Wilkes, a daughter of George Wilkes and Lulu 2:15, by Alexander's Norman. This young horse made a three-year-old record a few days ago of 2:22 1/2.

Palo Alto will come into the field this year with the most imposing stable of trotters that has ever been sent down the line from that famous establishment. There will be Sunol, 2:10 1/2; Palo Alto, 2:13 1/2; Anigo, 2:16 1/2; Hinda Rose, 2:19 1/2; Advertiser, 2:22 1/2; Bernal, 2:24; Coral, 2:25, and other good ones.

Six mares, well selected and kept in just the right condition, will turn out more successful speed among their foals than twenty mares will that are less carefully attended and conditioned on a place that is overstocked. Farms that used to produce speed, after a time stop producing it any more. Usually the trouble is they are overstocked.

Wildflower, the sensational filly that set the colt world on fire a few years ago when she took a two-year-old record of 2:21, is destined to prove a famous matron. Wild Boy, her first foal had his leg broken, her filly and Whitmount is in the 2:30 list, and another, Wild Bee has a mark of 2:31. Both of her foals that have appeared in public are by Piedmont.

Remember that weights are always employed at risk of the tendons and synovial sac, the injuries to which appear in the form of windgalls or thickening of the tendons. And the more weight carried the greater the risk in this particular direction. Therefore dispense with weights as soon as the case will admit of it. Use them only in speeding and never in jogging.

It is a well-known fact that most colts if given all their training on one track or even on one piece of road, says the Horse World, will after a time get track-sick, that is they will lose all interests in their work and consequently improve very little, and in some cases drop back in their speed. As a general thing about the best thing a trainer can do with a colt or horse that gets track-sick, is to let up on their work and turn them out for a short time, as one seldom improves much until that is done.

At Alexandria, Campbell county, several young men were playing ball when a wild bull struck Clifford Gosney, four years old, in the breast. He fell, but arose and walked about twenty feet, when he fell unconscious. He was carried into a house near by, where he died in a few minutes. The bull struck right over the heart, rupturing a blood-vessel in that organ.

An Aetelson woman of 80 recently told her friends that she expected a young woman to come and visit her. Her friends quietly made arrangements to give a few dinners and parties to entertain the young woman when she came. Judge of their surprise to learn the other day that the old lady's "young woman" friend is just 70.

There was rather a lively time Tuesday in the Louisville Board of Trade on account of the sale of some bonds of the Beattyville Extension railroad. Twenty bonds of $100 each had been pledged to secure a loan, with the understanding that the collateral was to be sold if the notes were not paid at maturity. The attorney for the holder ordered the sale, and Col. Thomas Bullitt forbade it. This accounts for the low price of $56, which the bonds brought.

A terrible wind, hail and rain storm visited the locality of Hot Springs Sunday night, the hail doing much damage to window lights throughout the city. The mammoth plunge bath house was damaged to the amount of several dollars. This is the second destructive hail storm that has visited Hot Springs this summer. Crops along the Cheyenne river valley which gave promise of the largest yield in the history of the county, were in ten minutes time literally ruined.

Every little while an Aetelson man comes back from Topeka with a story he heard Geo. R. Peck tell. The latest is on to the following effect: An actress died in New York, and her friends called on an undertaker to make arrangements for the funeral. The undertaker wanted to know how they wanted the coffin trimmed, whereupon the friends of the dead woman said they would accept his suggestions. "Well," said the undertaker, "if the deceased was a single woman, I should trim the coffin in white; if a married woman, in heliotrope." The friends said they would think the matter over, and send him word as to their decision. In the afternoon the undertaker received this note: "Trim the coffin in white, with a dash here and there of heliotrope."

Prof. Snow, who is in Colorado to investigate the grasshopper scare, writes to the Kansas papers: "A careful examination has failed to disclose a single specimen of the destructive Rocky Mountain locust. From today's investigation it appears that swarms of the wingless individuals are marching out in all directions from this locality as a center. The few winged ones show no disposition to migrate. The young march rapidly, having advanced nine miles northward in the last week. They feed exclusively upon grasses, leaving untouched the young corn fields through which they were seen to pass in great numbers. Kansas need not have the slightest fear of an invasion from this grass-eating species."

One of the most unfortunate men in the world lives in Aetelson. During his married life he has had but one ambition, and that was to accumulate money for his wife and children. He is worth a small fortune now, but in his long money-saving life he neglected himself, and is as much out of place in the social pleasures and luxuries he has gathered around his family as a bull would be in a china shop. They have their parties and good times, but he is too old to enjoy them. He is out of business, and in the evenings he sits alone, wondering what is wrong that now he has accomplished his ambition, he is not happy. His case is said to be a common one. It is as common as that of the woman who saves and pinches that her husband may grow rich, and who is forgotten when he has made his money. There are so many pitiful things about old age that it has become a sort of punishment that only those who die young can evade.—[Aetelson Globe.]

THE ADVOCATE.

The Right of Exclusion.

Rev. Dr. E. E. Hale recently read before the Examiner Club of Boston a paper on Gen Booth's plan of colonizing the paupers of London, which is published in the Commonwealth. After speaking of the great numbers of wretchedness in the heart of Europe, where millions of people are glad to live on food which well-bred hounds would reject, he says:

A few drops from this reservoir trickle over to America. To London, the channel is open and short. A passage on the forward deck of a Hamburg steamer is about the whole of it. Now we all know that England must not keep anything out of her ports. We all know "that in England you must buy where you can buy the cheapest." On that theory, of course, you must buy your labor on the same terms. So that poor General Booth does not only to uplift the hundred thousand people who are now without sufficient wages in East London; his real problem is to uplift, to the level which he proposes, all the people in the world who are not on that level—unless the cost of their transportation to London is sufficient to act as a prohibitory duty.

The philosophical question at the bottom of the whole is this: In any nation the right for its national purpose—of education, morals, or, in general, prosperity—to exclude the natives of other nations, whose "presence is distasteful?" This is the diplomatic phrase when a foreign minister is to be sent away. The Puritans of New England acted on this supposed right and banished Roger Williams and the Quakers. The verdict of their own descendants, even, has been, on the whole, against them. The Japanese acted upon it for more than two centuries with some interesting results; but they then abandoned it under pressure and are now sailing on exactly the other tack. Acting upon it in one exceptional case, the United States has excluded the Chinese; but the United States receives emigrants of other races, who are certainly inferior to the Chinese.

For myself, I believe in Government. I like to be called the friend of Government. And I believe in Government of the people, for the people, by the people. I believe that this people is a visible entity, in which individuals are gold or silver-blackened; that they are born to their duty, and are responsible for it. I believe, therefore, that this people, in any country, has a right to say if and how its numbers shall be enlarged. While it is managing its own affairs, even while it is trying its own experiments, it may say how many strangers and what strangers may be added to its numbers. While I am analyzing the fluid in a test glass, to find how much nitrate of silver there is in it, you shall not add to the solution, either chloride of gold or blue-blackening. I have a right to conduct my experiment to the end. But the English nation, on the whole, does not believe in such a right of exclusion; and I suppose it will generally be challenged at this table. There is a general impression that water must be on its own level, and that Johnson must get out of the way while it is finding it.

Waste of Energy.

It is held that even the very best steam engines lose 90 per cent. of the heat generated in their furnaces, and it has also been shown that in the incandescent electric lamp only 5 per cent. of the electricity consumed is converted into light, the rest being lost in heat. So it is not so much the problem of the scientists to discover new forces, perhaps, as to invent some way of reducing the waste that takes place in use of those we have. When perfect combustion of fuel is accomplished, and when electricity can be quickened into light without the immediate loss of heat, then, if we have reached the millennium, we may look for other forces to subjugate. So it is in our physical and mental forces; we do not need new forces so much as a judicious use of those we possess. (Electric Age.)

A carpenter by the name of M. S. Powers, fell from the roof of a house at East Des Moines, Iowa, and sustained a painful and serious sprain of the wrist, which he cured with one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says it is worth $5 a bottle. 100¢ in 50 cents. For sale by T. G. Sullivan.

Preparation for Opportunity.

Sir Henry Havelock joined the army of India in his twenty-eight year and waited till he was sixty-two for the opportunity to show himself fitted to command and skillful to plan. During those four and thirty years of waiting, he was busy preparing himself for that march to Lucknow which was to make him famous as a soldier.

Gen. Charles James Napier, while Governor of Sindh, wrote to an ensign, advising him by study to prepare himself for the higher ranks of his profession, so that when promotion came he would be ready to discharge the duties of the new position. The general's words should be invariably digested by all young men. He wrote:

"By reading professional books you will discover what is duty in your corps. If faults there are, you will then learn how things ought to be, and will by daily observation see how they are. Thus you can form comparisons which will in time teach you your profession."

"Keep up all knowledge that you have acquired, and gain as much more as you can. By reading you will be distinguished; without it abilities are of little use. A man may talk and write, but he cannot learn his profession without constant study to prepare; especially for the higher ranks, because there he wants the knowledge and experience of others improved by his own."

"But when in a post of responsibility he has no time to read, and if he comes to such a post with an empty skull, it is then too late to fill it and he makes no figure. Thus many people fail to distinguish themselves and say they are unfortunate, which is untrue; their own previous idleness has unfitted them to profit from fortune."

"The smith who has to look for his hammer when the iron is red strikes too late; the hammer should be uplifted to fall like a thunderbolt while the white heat is in the metal. Thus will the forging prosper."—[Ex.]

Professor Helliwell, the geographer, in an article entitled "The Climatic Point of the North American Continent," discusses the observations as to the loftiest four summits of Mexico, and comes to the following determination as to their heights: Peak of Orizaba, 18,205 feet; Popocatepetl, 17,523 feet; Ixtaccihuatl, 16,900 feet; Nevada de Toluca, 14,954 feet. The restoration of the peak of Orizaba to the first place among the Mexican mountains, and its increased altitude

Professor Helliwell states, open up the interesting question as to what constitutes the culminating point of the North American continent. He analyzes the data on which the palm has been accorded to Mount St. Elias owing to the height of 19,464 feet given to it by the observer Dall. He points out that this determination was made "at sea," one hundred and twenty-seven miles distant. In view of the reduction of height made by the recent Alaska expedition, Professor Helliwell's concluding words are worthy of attention. "In view of the broad divergence existing in these later measurements, and the fact that all earlier determinations give less than 18,000 feet for the height of Mount St. Elias, geographers will probably consider the question of absolute height as still an open one. That the mountain closely approximates the giants of the Mexican plateau is almost certain, but it seems equally probable that its true position is after, and not before, the Peak of Orizaba," which would thus be the culminating peak of the North American continent.

A little Swiss canton with Socialistic tendencies has lately adopted a law of free burial, by which the State is the chief patron and employer of the undertakers. Two purveyors of coffins are elected in each district; all orders are sent to one during the first six months of the year, and to the other during the remaining six months. The coffins are delivered gratuitously. Notwithstanding the efforts of the government to be fair, the greatest complaint and dissatisfaction have arisen. One coffin-maker has twice as many orders as his colleague and private families are not satisfied.

It is for you to assume that the man who is always eager to tell you a bit of scandal about somebody else is always just as eager to tell somebody else a bit of scandal about you.

The New York Life has paid death losses and matured policies in Kentucky for over Forty Years with promptness and liberality.

It invests more money in Kentucky than all its competitors combined. It has established a BRANCH OFFICE in Kentucky to facilitate the transaction of its immense business.

It issues a greater variety of policies than any other company.

It is the originator of nearly every improved plan of life insurance.

Its New Distribution Policy

Is the most popular plan of insurance in existence.

It contains special advantages and guarantees WHICH CAN NOT BE GIVEN BY ITS CHIEF COMPETITORS BY REASON OF UNWISE CHARTER RESTRICTIONS.

It guarantees a loan after ten (10) years (at option of policy-holder) to carry the policy to end of a designated period.

It guarantees a mortuary dividend to all premiums paid after ten (10) years. This leaves the full FACE OF THE POLICY INTACT in event the premiums have been borrowed, and INCREASES the policy if premiums have been paid in cash.

It gives a grace of thirty days in payment of all premiums.

It gives a special rate covering first two years of insurance.

It gives desirable options of settlement if insured survives the distribution period.

The New York Life writes in Kentucky nearly double the amount of insurance secured by any other company, as the following figures, taken from the OFFICIAL REPORTS, will show:

BUSINESS IN KENTUCKY IN 1890.

NEW YORK LIFE, : : : : :	$4,467,850.00

{ "Why do you shine?" said the toad. }

While a congregation of 200 people were worshipping at a church in Towns County Ga., a bolt of lightning struck the ground near the church and shook up everybody in the edifice. Benches were upset and the floor was covered with people, variously affected by the stroke. Some were knocked senseless, while others had their clothes and shoes torn from their bodies. Many were burned, and streaks and marks were left on their bodies where the currents touched them.

Nearly every one in the congregation have marks where the lightning touched. Many found holes burned in their clothes, some of the garments looking as if a load of shot had been through them. Strange to say, no one was killed, though many were rendered unconscious. A horse, which was standing on the opposite side of the church from where the lightning first struck, was killed outright.

Resolved, That knowing brother Hon and his upright walk through life banishes all doubt from our minds of his arrival at that house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

Resolved, That the members of the Masonic Fraternity tender to the bereaved family their heartfelt sympathy, that Alma Lodge be draped in mourning, and that the members wear the usual badge of mourning for 30 days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be given each of the country papers for publication, a copy be sent to the bereaved widow and family, and that they be spread on the records of the lodge.

Louisville Tobacco Market, Furnished by Glover & Durratt—Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 3,386 lbs., with receipts for the same period of 2,408 lbs.; sales on our market since Jan'y 1st, amount to 96,158 lbs. Sales of the crop of 1890 on our market to this date 65,894 lbs.

The market for burley tobacco has been somewhat fluctuating during the week but in the main prices have been stronger. The very common grades have shown more activity throughout the entire week.

The chief characteristic of the offerings has been the finked condition of a very large percent of the offerings. The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco.

Trash (dark) or damaged tobacco $2 to $3.
Colony trash - - - - - $4 to $5.
Common lugs not colony, - $34 to $54.
Colony lugs, - - - - - $64 to $12.
Common leaf, - - - - - $5 to $8.
Medium to good leaf, - - $84 to $14.
Good to fine livers, - - $14 to $22.
Select wrappery tobacco, - $22 to $33.

A Metal That Makes Gold Seem Worthless.

Probably ninety-nine persons in one hundred, if asked to name the most precious metals, would mention gold first, platinum second, and silver third. A few might add nickel and aluminum to the list. Let us see how near the truth they would be.

Gold is worth about $240 per pound, troy; platinum, $240, and silver about $12. Nickel is quoted at about 60 cents, and pure aluminum at $2 to $3 per troy pound. Now compare these prices with those of the rarer and less well-known metals.

Taking them in alphabetical order barium sells for $975 a pound, when it is sold at all; and calcium is worth $1,800 a pound. Cerium is a shade higher—its cost is $160 an ounce, or $1,920 a pound. These begin to look like fabulous prices, but they do not reach the highest point; chromium brings $200 an ounce, cobalt falls to half the price of silver, while dysprosium is the same price as cerium and erbium, $10 cheaper on the ounce than calcium, or just $1,080 per pound.

The wealth of the Vanderbilt's amounts to nearly $200,000,000. With this sum they could purchase 312 tons of gold, and have something left over; but they couldn't buy two tons of gallium, that rare metal being worth $3,250 an ounce. With this metal the highest price is reached, and it may well be called the rarest and most precious of metals.

Notice.

The members of the Howards Mill order of F. & L. U. are requested to meet at lodge room on Aug. 4th at 2 o'clock, as there will be business of importance to come up before the order.

Mr. J. Green Trimble returned on Saturday afternoon from a trip to Kansas and Indian Territory. He reports prospects for the corn crop generally, through Kansas and Missouri, as short. In some few sections prospects are fine. The wheat crop is immense, especially in Sumner county, Kansas.

Mrs. John C. Arnold died at her home near Rogers' Mill, in this county, on Friday, July 31st, aged 26 years. She leaves a husband and three small children. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. Dudley Tipton and she had been for some time a sufferer from consumption. Burial at Hukston church on Saturday afternoon.

A Western paper thus camps on Senator Peffer's trail: Senator Whiskey stated in a speech at Boston that the farm mortgage indebtedness of California amounts to $160,000,000, against a valuation of only $168,000,000. It appears that when the senator was plain Mr. Peffer he was employed as an editorial writer on the Topeka capital three years ago and compiled statistics to disprove the same. The same able article showing the mortgage indebtedness of California could not be more than $160,000,000. As there has been but one serious crop failure since that date was written it is very evident that the senator is simply lying for political effect when he stretches the mortgage up to $160,000,000.

Base Ball.

The game of ball between the Maysville street and "Main street" teams, Thursday afternoon was a glowing success in every respect. It was hugely enjoyed by the crowd present. The play embraced every variety of ball tossing, from "grand and peculiar" to "fair to foul," and individual plays of enormous magnitude and far-reaching effect were numerous. The players were accompanied by a corps of physicians and ambulance wagons, and portable drug stores were present. The feature of the game was Squire Turner's playing in the field, under the protection of a smooth umbrella. His grand tumbling act was well worth the price of admission. The score stood 15 in favor of the "Maysville team." The proceeds will be given to the Gate City Club.
The Gate City and Harrodsburg teams played this afternoon at 2:30, and nine from here defeated the Harrodsburg team by a score of 17 to 11.
The "Maysville" defeated the Owingsville team yesterday; score 4 to 2.

THE ADVOCATE.

The Active New York Newsboy.
A stout man of dignified deportment stepped leisurely on a Fourth avenue car on Wednesday evening. Shortly after he had got settled a newsboy clambered on and said, "Ustry." The stout man selected a paper and handed the boy a quarter. The boy searched himself all over for change, as though it was his custom to secrete money in unexpected places. His search was a failure. He laid his pile of papers on the stout man's lap and asked the conductor for change. The conductor had none, and the boy waved his hand at the stout man and jumped off the car. He ran to a fat woman who sat on an apple stand, and she shook her head. He darted into a store, and a few seconds later darted out again.

The car pursued its jolting way, and the boy was in danger of being left hopelessly behind. The stout man fidgeted. The car got to Canal street with the boy still in hot pursuit. He had secured every keeper of a fruit stand on the way, and had popped in and out of at least half a dozen stores. He was a block behind the car, and the stout man grew terribly nervous. The car reached Grand street and, turning the corner, left the boy out of sight. The passengers strained their necks to watch for the first appearance of the pursuing boy, and finally he came tearing along like mad, with his head bent down, his elbows stuck in his ribs, and the tattered ends of his clothing standing out behind. He caught the car, and, plunging on board, went up to the stout man and handed him twenty-four pennies.

The stout man gazed at him thoughtfully and handed him another penny. The boy grabbed his papers, touched his hat, said "Thank ye," and disappeared.

Each passenger breathed a sigh of relief and pondered on the stout man's generosity.—New York Sun.

Sunday Biting in California in 1880.
Suddenly there was a great noise of shouting and hurrying away from the street, and the crowd heaving and separating upon either side, on came a dozen half wild, bearded men, some, very strapping fellows, on foaming horses, lashing them to the utmost and giving the piercing solo halloo of the Comanches! They suddenly halted in front of Winter's hotel, and while the greater number dismounted and tumultuously entered the barroom for refreshment, a few of the remainder made themselves conspicuous by acts of daring lonesomeness—picking up knives from the ground while at full gallop, Indianlike whirling on the sides of their steeds, then up and off like the wind, and, while apparently dashing into the surrounding crowd, suddenly reining in their horses upon their haunches, and whirling them upon their hind legs, then without a stop dashing off as furiously in the opposite direction.

These few proved to be Doniphan's wild riders, who even excelled the Mexican chaballeros in feats of horsemanship. At last, all together once more they came sweeping down the street, apparently reckless of life and limb. As they passed, the scurrying footmen cheered them on with great good nature. The crowd closed again and in a brief time everything was as restless as ever.—C. B. Gillespie in Century.

An Odd Sight in Boston.
The square in Kilby street opposite the Mason building must be some what like the old inn starting places of the stage coaches in the days before the railroads. The suburban and country expressmen rendezvous there in great numbers, and there are some queer conveyances and animals, not to speak of drivers, in the early afternoon, when the expressmen that run clear out to Dover and Natick and Sherborn and Lincoln and such places are preparing to set out on their long drive homeward. It takes a good horse to make one of these trips into town and back in a day, and every day too; but the horse is not chosen for his good looks, but for his hard muscles and his trustworthiness and legs.

He is a little apt to be angular. You might be, gentle reader, if you had to amble from Billerica to Boston and back every day. The wagons that make these long country trips are not the spruce, well painted vehicles that one sees going about in town.—Boston Transcript.

What an Irish Famine Looks Like.
I visited the Island of Achill, in Connaught. I trust I may never again have to endure the agony I endured that day—seeing men, women and children perishing all about me, without the possibility of giving relief. All of the food of every kind on the island had been consumed. In more than one instance I saw a family feeding on boiled nettles. The next day I was driving with a farmer, a gentleman of wealth and position, on the main land. Talking over the misery I had witnessed, he said, "And yet I cannot say I have lost a single sheep on the mountain." My observation was prompt: "Lucky for you I am not one of your tenants. You would have lost many."—S. C. Hall's Book.
